In the current global credit crisis Cuba is an inspiration.

The US enforced blockade has forced it to exist without access to credit for over 50 years. Then in the 1990's imports of oil and food were drastically cut.

That Cuba faced and overcame these dual crises shows a possibility for the rest of the world, particularly with the current economic crisis paralysing markets worldwide.

This film tells of the hardships and struggles as well as the community and creativity of the Cuban people as they transitioned to organic farming, urban gardens and a sustainable economy.

The film will be followed by a discussion.
